INTRODUCTION

NEW YORK STATE MUNICIPAL PROFILES was designed to provide concise yet comprehensive one page profiles for all the cities, towns, villages, and counties in New York State. There are currently 57 counties, 62 cities, 932 towns and 558 villages in New York. Occasionally a new place will incorporate. A profile page for a municipality will be added to this book the first year there is revenue and expenditure information available, which is usually a full year after the date of incorporation.

In the state of New York, villages and towns often overlap. A town may contain as few as zero villages, or as many as 31, such as in North Hempstead Town in Nassau County. On the other hand, every village is located in at least one town. 69 villages are located in 2 towns each, and 3 villages are located in 3 towns each. In addition, 9 villages are located in two different counties. New York City is coterminous with the five counties/boroughs of Bronx County/Bronx Borough, New York County/Manhattan Borough, Kings County/Brooklyn Borough, Queens County/Queens Borough, and Richmond County/Staten Island Borough. A description of how each municipality overlaps with its neighbors is given under the General Information section of each profile page.

The book contains one page for every city, town, village, and county in the state. These pages are arranged alphabetically by municipality or county name within the municipal or county profiles sections. Each page has the same format which organizes the data into eight categories, with the result that information about a specific city, town, village, or county can be found rapidly, and comparisons can be made easily.

INTRODUCTION TO THE DATA

The information in this book has been obtained from a variety of sources. In order to maximize the usefulness of the book it is important to disclose where each piece of information came from. This is especially important to researchers who have questions about how the data was gathered and what some of the terms used mean. The best answers to these questions are found in the originators of the data which we will cite in the Explanation of the Categories to follow.

It is also important to cite the year of the data. In all cases this is the latest year for which complete data was available for all local governing bodies as of February 29, 1992. Most data is from 1990, 1991, and 1992, and most of the dates are indicated in the headings themselves.

Blank spaces, or the notation N/A (for not available) are fairly rare, as we went to great lengths to obtain all the data that was available. In those cases when such notations were necessary they indicate one of several conditions. Most likely, they indicate that the information was never sent to the data collecting agency, or was not available at the data collecting agency at press time. In some cases, reporting is voluntary, and some places have chosen not to report. In other cases, the category or descriptor just does not apply to the place (as in the case of towns and villages without libraries).

EXPLANATION OF THE CATEGORIES

Demographics & Socio-economic Characteristics

The information in this first section for both municipalities and counties comes from the 1990 U.S. Census and was provided on computer disk by the Cornell Institute for Social and Economic Research (CISER).

Race, as used by the Bureau of the Census, is not meant to denote any scientific or biological concept of race. The sub-groups displayed here represent the self-categorization of respondents. It should also be noted that Hispanic origin is not a racial category. Persons may be of any race, and be of Hispanic origin as well. As a result, only the five sub-groups under race add to the total 1990 population.

Household, as defined by the Bureau of the Census, includes all the persons living in a housing unit. A family household consists of two or more persons related by birth, marriage, or adoption living together.

Housing and Construction

The information listed under Housing Units, 1990 is from the 1990 U.S. Census and was provided on computer tape by the Cornell Institute for Social and Economic Research (CISER).

As defined by the U.S. Census, a housing unit is a house, apartment, mobile home or trailer, group of rooms, or single room occupied as a separate living quarter or, if vacant, intended as a separate living quarter. Separate living quarters are those in which the occupants live and eat separately from any other persons in the building, and which have direct access from the outside of the building or through a common hall.

For this publication, a single family unit is defined as a housing unit which does not share the building with any other housing units, nor is its building attached to any other structure. In Census terminology, it is defined as "one (1) unit in structure, detached."

A housing unit is owner occupied if the owner or co-owner lives in the unit, even if the unit is mortgaged or not fully paid for. All other housing units are considered renter occupied.

Statistics for New Privately Owned Housing Units Authorized by Building Permit come from annual U.S. Bureau of the Census reports for 1988, 1989, and 1990. Places which issue building permits are asked to report monthly to the Bureau. Except for the five New York City counties/boroughs, county profile pages show building permits issued by the county for unincorporated areas only. For the five boroughs, the number of permits shown is for the entire county.

General Information

The address and telephone number shown are for the central location of municipal or county business; i.e., the city hall, city administrative offices, county court house or county administrative offices, and were obtained from the mail and telephone survey done in February, 1992, by the editor. The year incorporated or established and type of government for municipalities came from the same survey.

Land area and water area are from the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Voters & Government Officials

Registered voter data for municipalities and counties was compiled from information provided by the Commissioner of the Board of Elections from each county. Numbers do not add to total because not all party affiliations are shown, only Democrat and Republican. Note that only a few counties collect voter registration data for villages; most only collect the data for towns and cities. Even in those counties which provided village data, often the election precint lines do not correspond exactly to the village borders. In these instances, the data listed is only an estimate, and is followed by the abbreviation "est."

All local officials' names (municipality and county) were gathered from our mail and telephone survey of Feburary, 1992.

Public Safety

The names of the police and fire chiefs (municipalities) and sheriffs (counties) came from our own mail and telephone survey conducted in February, 1992. The total crime, violent crime, and sworn officer statistics come from the 1990 Crime and Justice Annual Report, published by the Department of Criminal Justice Services in Albany, NY. Violent crime is defined as murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault.

Municipalities showing N/A in either the Police or Fire sections have no municipal police or fire department, and usually have contracted with the county sheriff's department or another municipal police or fire district for these services.

Public Library

All information on libraries, both municipal and county, was obtained from the 1990 Directory of Library Systems in New York State, published by the State Education Department in Albany, NY. The data was then verified by our own mail and telephone survey done in February, 1992. Municipal profile pages include information on public libraries only. County library information shows the name of the Library System to which the county belongs and the name, address, phone number and director of the Central Library of that system. Each county belongs to a single library system except Ulster County, which belongs to two.

Municipal Finance/County Finance

Information in this category (with two exceptions) has been taken from the State of New York Special Report of Municipal Affairs, Local Fiscal Years Ended in 1990, published by the Office of the Comptroller, Albany, NY. Note that the fiscal years of the municipalities and counties vary.

We extracted the information for the municipalities from computer tapes provided by the comptroller's office. Except for New York City, the city information corresponds to Table 3, the town information to Table 4, and the village information to Table 5. The county information is from Table 2 and was taken directly from the printed report. New York City information was also taken directly from the printed report and is from Table 3.1. The area of New York City is coterminous with the five counties (boroughs) of the Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens, and Richmond, but these counties do not perform any financial function. Therefore, the five boroughs do not have any financial data listed on their profiles pages.

Under the Revenues section, Real Property Taxes include taxes, assessments, and other tax items associated with real property. Non-property Taxes include sales tax and other non-property taxes such as utilities gross receipts and revenues from franchises.

Under the Expenditures section, Public Safety includes police, fire and other public safety expenditures such as for traffic contral and building inspection. Economic Assistance consists of expenditures to promote the economic welfare of the municipality and its residents, such as social service programs. Culture-Recreation includes expenditures for parks, libraries, playgrounds, etc. Home and Community expenditures include utilities, housing and community development and natural resources. Note that not all Revenue and Expenditure subcategories are listed on the profiles pages, so that the sub-categories do not sum to the totals.

Unlike figures for all the other municipalities, the Total Revenue and Total Expenditure figures for New York City reflect the financial transactions of the city's School District and Higher Education.

Total debt outstanding is all municipal or county debt outstanding at the end of the fiscal year. Debt outstanding for educational purposes is included in cities over 125,000 population.

Under the heading Taxation, the figure for Assessed Value, Real Property is the total taxable assessed value of real property as shown on the municipality or county assessment rolls and used to levy the taxes for the fiscal year. Full value, Real Property is the actual taxable valuation of real property on the tax rolls. The State Equalization Rate is the rate determined by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to indicate the average ratio of the assessed valuation to the full valuation of taxable real property.

Total Tax Levied, 1991 (municipalities and counties) and Total Overall Tax Rate, 1991 (municipalities only) are from Overall Real Property Taxes, 1991, published by the Office of the State Comptroller in Albany, NY. The Total Tax Levied for counties is the sum of all the taxes levied in the cities, towns, and villages comprising that county. The Total Overall Tax Rate, 1991 is the rate, based on $1,000 of assessed valuation, used to levy real property taxes in each city, town, and village government. Since school districts levy taxes, a range of tax rates is given when more than one school district serves the municipality.

Public School System

Name, address, telephone number, and name of Superintendent of public school districts are from the Directory of Public Schools and Administrators in New York State, 1990-91, published by the New York State Education Department in Albany, NY.

Many cities and towns are served by more than one public school district. If Table III from the publication Overall Real Property Taxes, 1991, published by the Office of the State Comptroller, showed that a city or town paid taxes to a school district, we show that district as serving the city or town. Which school district serves a given village was determined by our own mail and telephone survey conducted in February, 1992. Due to space limitations, expanded information about only one school district can be shown on each profile page. The district shown on the profile page will either be the only district for the municipality, or the district which collects the highest percentage of taxes from the municipality.

If there are other districts serving the municipality, they are listed at the bottom of the page under the heading Other School District(s), and information about the district(s) can be found arranged alphabetically by the name of the district in Appendix A in the back of Volume II. The exception is New York City—the district listed on the profile page for New York City is the Chancellor's Office for all New York City Schools. All the rest of the school districts serving the five borough City are listed alphabetically in Appendix B.

Grade plan, enrollment, and pupil/teacher ratio are from Public School Enrollment and Staff, 1990-91, published by the State Education Department in Albany, NY. Enrollment figures are for kindergarten through 12th grade, including ungraded students, but excluding prekindergarten students.

Per pupil expenditure was calculated by dividing total expenditures for the district by the enrollment figure explained above. The total expenditures data is from Table 6 of the Special Report of Municipal Affairs, 1990, published by the Office of the State Comptroller in Albany, NY.

Distribution of high school graduates figures are from a special printout, High School Graduate Distribution by School, District, County, Region and State, 1989-90 Public and Non-Public, produced by the New York State Education Department in Albany, NY. The figures show the type of continuing education, if any, the class of 1990 intended to pursue upon graduation. Note that this data includes students from both public and private high schools.

The Education section on the county profile pages shows the total enrollment for the county, and the average pupil/teacher ratio for the county. The sources for these figures are the same as for the municipality pages. In addition, the names, addresses, phone numbers, and District Superintendents of the Boards of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) are listed. This information is from the Directory of Public Schools and Administrators in New York State, 1990-91.

Every county is a member of at least one, and as many as five, BOCES. The exceptions are the five counties/boroughs which comprise New York City, which are overseen by the New York City Schools Chancellor. For the New York City counties/boroughs, the total enrollment figure is an individual county total; however, the pupil/teacher ratio is for all of New York City and is therefore the same for all five boroughs. For the rest of the Education section, the boroughs are treated similarly to municipalities, and the school districts which serve the borough are listed. Expanded information on these school districts can be found listed alphabetically in Appendix B in the back of Volume II.

DISCLAIMER

NEW YORK STATE MUNICIPAL PROFILES contains thousands of pieces of information. Every reasonable precaution, along with a good deal of care was taken in its preparation. Despite all efforts it is possible that some of the information contained in this book may not be accurate. Some errors may be due to errors in the original source materials, others may have been made by the compilers of this volume. An incorrect spelling may occur, a figure may be inverted and similar mistakes may exist. The compilers, editors, typist, printers, and others are all human, and in a work of this magnitude the possibility of error can never be fully eliminated.

If any piece of information is believed to be inaccurate, please contact the publisher. We are eager to eliminate any errors from coming editions and we will be pleased to check a piece of information.

The publisher is also aware that some users may apply the data in this book in various remunerative projects. Although we have taken all reasonable, responsible measures to insure total accuracy, we cannot take responsibility for liability or losses suffered by users of the data. The information provided here is believed to be correct at the time of publication. No other guarantees are made or implied. The publisher assumes no liability for losses incurred by users, and warrants only that diligence and due care were used in the production of this volume.
